

The Nature Collective

Employee Nature Health & Wellbeing Experiential Development Day

The Nature Collective specialises in bespoke nature connection employee wellbeing programmes, aimed at addressing some of the challenges faced within organisations related to the health of employees and their organisations as well as the natural world.

We are a team of skilled and experienced practitioners having worked in and with public and private sector organisations and social enterprises. The roots and trunk to our offering and professional training is grounded in evidence-based nature connection and applied ecological and psychological practices. This fundamentally enhances people's wellbeing and while addressing the reciprocal relationship with the natural world.

We would like to invite you to an experiential development day on 2nd May, at Penny Brohn UK, Ham Green, just outside Bristol. Joining other representatives from purpose-led organisations with a proactive interest in employee wellbeing and ecological stewardship, you will hear more about this growing and much needed area of work, as well as get to experience nature connection wellbeing practices first-hand. It will be an opportunity to meet The Nature Collective practitioners and other like-minded professionals interested in taking this conversation further in your organisations.

‘The science and practice of nature connection has tremendous potential for organisations seeking change for their people, environment, business success, and impact on climate and nature.’

(Butler, C.W., & Richardson, M., 2023)¹

Find out more at: www.thenaturecollective.uk

If you're interested in joining us for the experiential development day on Thursday 2nd May drop us an email at hello@thenaturecollective.uk

¹ Butler, C.W., & Richardson, M. (2023). Nature Connected Organisations: A guide for connecting organisations with nature for sustainable futures and workplace wellbeing. United Kingdom